ADMISSION OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE UNITED NATIONS

Australia, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, France, Italy, Netherlands, New Zealand, Philippines, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America: joint draft resolution

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolutions 296 G (IV) and 1017 A (XI) finding the Republic of Korea qualified for membership in the United Nations,

Noting with regret the continued inability of the Security Council to recommend the admission of the Republic of Korea to membership in the United Nations owing to the negative vote of a permanent member of the Security Council,

Reaffirms that the Republic of Korea is fully qualified for and should be admitted to membership in the United Nations.
